

Why you should work with

You have jobs. We have job seekers.

More than 11 million, from coast-to-coast. Whether you need skilled or general labor, sales help or fork-lift operators. Janitors or clerical workers. Short-term or long. Just one or two or one or two hundred.

We're the hirer of record. This can de-risk the situation.

We do the paperwork. We make payroll and handle deductions, taxes and worker's comp. And let's face it, as much as we plan, human beings make mistakes on the job. Like other staffing agencies, the folks we send you are on our payroll and covered by our insurance (along with a Federal Bonding program).

We thoroughly vet all our workers.

We know you have specific criteria for who you can and cannot hire, so in addition to a comprehensive background check, we conduct drug tests, predictive personality tests,

Complete flexibility.

Hire who you need for just as long as you need them. Someone not working out? It's on us to take care of it.

Most of all, our people are great.

That's not just our opinion. SHRM, the international organization for human resource professionals recently published a report that states 82% of hiring managers believe that when hiring those with records, the quality of hire is "as good as if not better" than hiring someone without a record. Other studies show that retention is also better. When you think about it, it makes lots of sense, because unlike many people you hire these days, those with records know their options are few, and generally will do nothing that will jeopardize a positive work situation. And they almost never get in trouble.
